

Patric Ciervo

MONOLOGUE

7/29/17

Comic Con was this last weekend in LA. Donald Trump Jr. cosplayed as someone who didn't collude with Russia.

Sean Spicer resigned from The White House last Friday. Leaving Donald Trump without a punching bag.

Sean Spicer resigned from The White House last Friday. His first day off he went to an elementary school and told kids Santa was fake news.

A defense attorney claims that her client who asked a man to kill her husband, was taking part of a reality TV stunt. It's a part of the new ABC line up "How to Go to Jail for Attempted Murder"

Chris Christie signed legislation to ensure a supportive, nondiscriminatory learning environment for transgender students. Which begs the question, is Chris Christie transitioning into someone with a heart?

Chris Christie signed legislation to ensure a supportive, nondiscriminatory environment for transgender students. Chris Christie is like the Tin Man. It turns out he had a heart all along.

Nine months after the Cubs won the World Series, there has been a baby boom in Chicago. Coincidentally, Nine months after Trump won the Presidency, there is a baby boom in Russia.

Mahershala Ali will star in season three of True Detective. His first case is to figure out who cast Vince Vaughn in season two of True Detective.

Lindsey Graham says if Mueller is fired, it could be the end of the Trump Presidency. The end after only been 8 months? What is this, a sitcom on Fox?

Hillary Clinton is coming out with a new book called "What Happened". It's not going to talk about the campaign, rather answer what happened at the end of Lost.

John McCain says the new healthcare bill should be Bipartisan. That isn't going to go well with Pence, he doesn't like anything that's a Bi.

Larry David recently found out he is related to Bernie Sanders. When Americans heard they said it was pretty, pretty, pretty, obvious.

